

Senior Consultant

Kwesi M. Johnson

Orlando, Florida

Kwesi Johnson doesn't just communicate, he captivates. With a vibrant energy that's infectious, he delves deep into the heart of organizational effectiveness, sparking authentic transformations. Kwesi's rare gift lies in his ability to forge profound connections in mere moments. Driven by an unwavering passion, he empowers everyone he meets to unleash the best versions of themselves. He fervently believes that true leadership begins from within, and when leaders embrace their authentic selves they foster trust, loyalty, and excellence in their teams.

With over two decades of experience spanning healthcare, corporate, and non-profit sectors, Kwesi brings a rich tapestry of insights. From healthcare clinician to administrator, from grassroots projects to C-Suite and boardroom strategies, his versatility shines. His expertise in process improvement, project management, and cultural transformation has consistently led teams to peak performances. But it's not just about achieving numbers for Kwesi, it's about catalyzing conversations that birth innovative solutions while building stronger and more effective teams in the process.

Knowing the difference between mere inspiration and true transformation, Kwesi diligently champions leaders to rise above the mundane and go beyond being transactional and to becoming transformational. Committed to excellence, he arms leaders with the strategies they need to nurture and retain top talent, forge synergy within teams, and yield extraordinary outcomes.
